What Your Ski Town Says About You

Where you choose to hang your helmet at night says it all.

Jackson Hole, Wyoming

First off, you can ski, like really ski. "Expert terrain" signs are an inducement rather than a warning; nothing on the mountain is off limits to you. When you aren't riding the aerial tram, you can be found in the "living room" at the Four Seasons, holding court and dreaming of retiring here.

You met your spouse: At the Silver Dollar Bar at the Wort Hotel

You met your ex: At the Mangy Moose

You wouldn't miss: The opening of the new Sweetwater gondola on December 17.

Your favorite non-skiing activity: A winter wildlife photography safari from JH Wildlife Safaris

Your headache is from: One too many drams of Wyoming Whiskey

You're skiing off the calories from: The fried chicken sandwich at Gavin Fine's Bodega in Teton Village

The local cause you love is: Teton County Search and Rescue

Your most-liked Instagram of the trip is of: The exterior of the Million Dollar Cowboy bar
