OUT OF THE COMFORT ZONE

Ready to go beyond blue-diamond runs, Catherine Dawson March heads to Jackson Hole, famous for its steep mountains and some of the best skiing in the world. And the Wyoming town's laid-back 'dirty boots and blue jeans' western vibe proves the perfect way to catch her breath after conquering a 35-degree slope

WHERE TO EAT

Town: There are a lot of moneyed folk in Jackson, and that means the restaurant scene is shockingly top-notch. Rendezvous Bistro takes the fun, laid-back atmosphere of the town and serves up excellent French-American bistro staples, the beef tartare comes "Carter Country" style, with egg yolk, capers – and potato chips. 380 South Broadway, rendezvousbistro.net

Teton Village: Inside Hotel Terra, Il Villaggio Osteria serves very fine Italian meals, including house-made charcuterie, cheeses and pizzas in a comfortable, casual restaurant. Ski boots not only allowed, but wiped up after. 3335 West Village Dr.; jhosteria.com
