

imbibe

LIQUID CULTURE

scene scout Where to Go Now

Jackson, Wyoming

Nestled in the spectacular Jackson Hole valley, Jackson, Wyoming, is the perfect winter getaway. With the towering Grand Tetons and Yellowstone National Park just a short drive to the north, it's the gateway to a wonderland of outdoor adventures. But even if your idea of a snow day involves cozying up by the fire with a cup of cocoa, Jackson has plenty to offer. Echoes of its Wild West past imbue the remote mountain town with its own brand of outlaw-chic, and its recent popularity in celebrity circles doesn't seem to have detracted from its laid-back feel. Far from the distractions of city life, and surrounded on all sides by some of the nation's most dramatic scenery, Jackson is a place to truly unwind. By Miranda Rake

PLUS:

Bin22

Modus Operandi: At barely a year old, this cozy bar and bottle shop has already established itself as the place in town for wine drinkers. Local restaurateur Gavin Fine was inspired to open the rustic-chic downtown spot by his travels through Italy, where he often enjoyed meals in local shops with a great bottle, some cheese and charcuterie. Bin22 offers hundreds of wines by the bottle, including some under their own label, as well as by-the-glass options, beer from Fine's Roadhouse Brewing and a terrific whiskey selection—the star of which is Wyoming Whiskey from the state's first legal distillery, which opened in late 2012.

Clockwise from left: Wine and whiskey at Bin22; beers on tap at Snake River Brewing; the bar at Bin22.

Coordinates: 200 W. Broadway, Jackson, WY // 307-739-9463 // bin22jacksonhole.com

