

The 18 Best Hot Spots for Eating & Drinking in Jackson Hole

Thursday, November 6, 2014, by Megan Barber

Just in time for winter, we've personally researched and curated the top spots to eat, drink, snack, and double-down in Jackson Hole, Wyoming. Like our guides to the top restaurants and bars in Vail, Park City, and Aspen, this highly selective list of Jackson Hole restaurants includes everything from drinking holes to fine dining and helps answer the question, "Where should I go in Jackson Hole?"

IL VILLAGGIO OSTERIA

One of the best dining options in Teton Village, Il Villaggio Osteria delivers your standard Italian fare of pasta, pizza, and salumi. The restaurant is located in one of our 38 Essential Ski Hotels, the Hotel Terra, but don't expect bland hotel food. From the antipasti to the dessert, Il Villaggio Osteria will satisfy your craving for something a bit different than ski town game.

THE KITCHEN

Another gem in the Fine Dining Restaurant Group empire, the Kitchen is a nice change of pace from the meat-heavy and American-centric menus that dominate ski towns. Asian-inspired cuisine shines through in dishes like Hoisin Spare Ribs, and well-priced seafood options.

BIN 22

The front of Bin 22 is a wine shop and liquor store with a good selection of beer, well-priced wines, and mixers. But venture a bit further and you'll find a full restaurant with small plates, communal tables, and tasty food. Order wine by the glass or head over to the wine shop to pick out a bottle and drink it over dinner with no corkage fee, anything you don't drink you can take home. There's also a pleasant patio in the back and a good cheese plate.

RENDEZVOUS BISTRO

The first of Gavin Fine and Roger Freedman's (Fine Dining Restaurant Group) restaurants, Rendezvous Bistro is known for its raw bar, wide selection of seafood, and killer outdoor patio. Oyster lovers will be in heaven here and the in-town location is convenient.
