

The Dallas Morning News

Taking high-society skiing to a new level

By LOUISE HUDSON

Special Contributor

Published: 04 December 2015 08:42 PM

With James Bond back on skis in Spectre, skiing is reconnecting with its elite roots. And not just in Europe. High-society skiing is going on all over North America.

Posh packages

For backcountry picnics or private après ski parties, Bin 22 at Jackson Hole, Wyo., has personal vintners to handpick and deliver rarefied wines. At nearby Hotel Terra, room service comes direct from Il Villaggio Osteria complete with martini cocktails — shaken not stirred, of course. As well as a three-night stay at Hotel Terra, the Wagner Custom Ski Package includes scientifically designed skis personalized to suit size, weight, stance and aptitude.