

While many visit this mountain town during ski season, the summer and fall are both equally mesmerizing times of year to travel to Jackson Hole

By Leila Najafi • 07/21/23 7:30am

Where to Eat

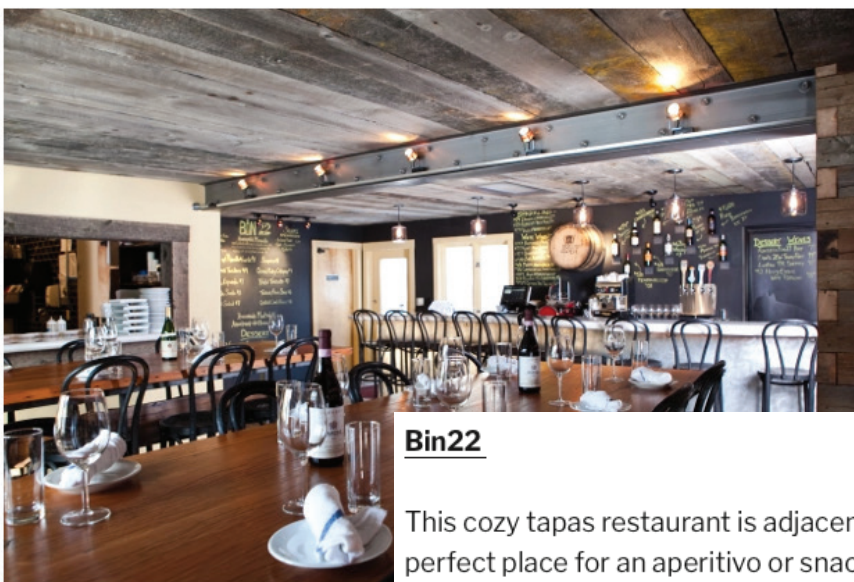

The Bistro.

The Bistro

This Parisian-inspired bistro is tucked inside The Cloudveil, and serves classic brasserie fare including steak frites, crispy duck confit and moules frites. Make sure to check the Plats du Jour, with special dishes like poached dover sole or bison filet mignon, and don't forget to pair your meal with a glass of French wine. Save room for dessert, as the bread pudding, made using day-old croissants, is delicious.

Where to Drink

Bin22.

Bin22

This cozy tapas restaurant is adjacent to a connected wine shop, and is the perfect place for an aperitivo or snack. Sit at one of the communal tables and nosh on charcuterie, cheese and other shareable plates including patatas bravas, paella and homemade meatballs. Enjoy no corkage fees when you purchase a bottle of wine from the shop, and satisfy your post-meal sweet tooth with the huckleberry cheesecake.

Roadhouse Brewing Co. JAY NEL-MCINTOSH

Roadhouse Brewing Co.

This centrally-located watering hole specializes in Belgian and IPA-style beers. The B Corp brewery also offers a food menu with bar snacks like buffalo wings, burgers and flatbreads, with an expansive beer list to wash it all down.