A GUIDE TO JACKSON HOLE (AND WHY SKIING ISN'T THE ONLY REASON TO VISIT)

WHERE TO EAT & DRINK

ONE OF THE QUESTIONS I RECEIVED ON INSTAGRAM WAS WHETHER THE FOOD WAS AS GOOD AS THE ART AND CREATIVE SCENE. WHILE YOU CAN SEE THAT THE FOOD DEFINITELY HAS SOME COMPETITION WITH THE ROBUST LIST UP ABOVE, I'M HERE TO TELL YOU IT WAS JUST AS INCREDIBLE AS EVERYTHING ELSE JACKSON HOLE HAS TO OFFER. HERE'S WHERE I DINED AND SOME OF MY FAVORITE DISHES FROM EACH SPOT-

Bin 22 // A wine wine bar that puts together some delicious cheeseboards (that include their house-cured sausages); perfect spot for a little post-exploring (or skiing) happy hour.

Osteria // If you're staying in Teton Village (or, let's be real, anywhere in the Jackson area), this spot is not to be missed. Think yummy Italian comfort food, in a cozy setting at the base of the slopes. What could be better?! I suggest ordering a few antipasti and pizze for the whole table to share, but I also absolutely loved their creste rigate (a pasta dish served with a decadent creamy, garlic sauce and more mushrooms than I knew what to do with). Two more not-to-be-missed items (that are also perfect for sharing)- the Brussel sprouts and their ice cream sandwiches (a specialty of theirs).
