

IN JACKSON HOLE, QUIET LUXURY MEETS WIDE OPEN WILDERNESS

By Ksenia Prints | Updated: May 27, 2026

Come hungry, leave surprised

The Kitchen is the kind of dinner restaurant that refined mountain towns need and rarely have: modern and approachable without being self-conscious about either quality. Meanwhile, Bin22 runs Spanish and Italian tapas in a room that feels more like a neighborhood wine bar in a much larger city, the kind of place you stumble into and come back to deliberately.