

How to Spend the Perfect Weekend in Jackson Hole, Wyoming

Take in grizzly country with spectacular ski runs, stunning mountain views, and unforgettable outdoor adventures.

BY REBECCA R. NORRIS PUBLISHED: MAR 4, 2024

Welcome to VERANDA's Perfect Weekend, where we show you how to make the most of 48 hours in one of our favorite destinations. This month, we're headed to Jackson Hole, Wyoming, to create core memories amongst the mountains. Famous for its world-class outdoor adventures—ranging from skiing and snowboarding to fly fishing and wildlife tours—Jackson Hole is a nature lover's paradise. Of course, you don't have to be a winter sports athlete or an avid bird-watcher to enjoy the small town—in Jackson Hole, there's something for everyone.

Recognized by its iconic town square, downtown Jackson Hole is roughly three square miles, making it an extremely walkable destination, even in snowy conditions. (Generally, Jackson Hole experiences snowfall from November through March, which is why the historic Western town is often thought to be a fabulous spring break destination for winter sports fans.) The square is outfitted with luxury shopping, various art galleries,

...from hot to fire. (For those looking to buy their favorite winter gear...

Rebecca Norris

Sunday Morning

Make the last day of your weekend getaway to Jackson Hole a memorable one with a shopping trip to find the perfect souvenir. But first, breakfast. Cowboy Coffee and Persephone are your best bets for a quick bite, but if you want to sit down and stay a while, head over to The Bistro at The Cloudveil. It's a Parisian-inspired restaurant serving breakfast, lunch, and dinner, with an a.m. offering that includes Champagne cocktails, pastries, pancakes, crepes, eggs Benedict, and more.

After breakfast, head across the street to Kemo Sabe for the ultimate bespoke hat-making experience. The hats range from $350 to $895 and can be accessorized with a number of bands, chains, pins, and other accessories.