Whether on its own or atop a warm brownie or generous slice of pie, ice cream is the perfect way finish to any meal. And it's twice as nice when it's slow-churned in small batches with fresh ingredients right on site. Indulge your sweet tooth with the in-house programs at these restaurants for ice cream lovers across the U.S.

Il Villaggio Osteria, Jackson Hole, Wyoming

Chad Horton, the executive pastry chef for Fine Dining Restaurant Group in Jackson Hole, Wyoming, makes all of the ice cream served in the group's restaurants. Flavors range from funky (black garlic ice cream) to traditional (salted caramel with housemade vanilla sea salt and caramel) and everything in between. Horton's ice creams and ice cream sandwiches have garnered such a dedicated local following that they're now available from local retail outlets including the restaurants.
