

It seems my jaded girlfriend is getting interested. "Okay, what about the food?" she prods.

I laugh, because in Jackson Hole I know there are some of the most imaginative and diverse restaurants assembled under the Fine Dining Restaurant Group. I didn't mention that my knowledge was recently acquired, I just used it.

"You want barbecue? We can do Q Roadhouse and Brewing Co. Want casual elegance and the freshest oysters and seafood? Then Rendezvous Bistro is the place. A simple nosh and great wine? Then we will wander over to sit on the patio at Bin 22."
